

Vine-Ripened Greenhouse Tomatoes Delivered Fresh for Your Enjoyment

Think greenhouse tomatoes are not as good as field grown?

Try one of our greenhouse tomatoes, and we believe your opinion will change!

Compared to field tomatoes that are battered by wind and rain and broiled by the sun, our tomato plants live a life of absolute luxury. Heated in the winter, and cooled and shaded in the early summer, the greenhouse climate is maintained in the comfort zone of the plants. Not too hot, and not too cold, but just right!

Each tomato plant is watered multiple times daily, and with each watering, all of the macronutrients and micronutrients the plants require are supplied in a form readily absorbed by the plant roots. The pay-off from these pampered plants is harvests of delicious, nutritious tomatoes, which are NEVER picked until they are vine-ripe.

You may not believe it until you taste one, but our tomatoes are just as good as any tomato you ever picked from your home garden!

No Pesticides

Our plants are not sprayed, fogged, or treated in any way with any form of pesticide. We don't even use products that are approved under a certified organic program. No insecticides, no fungicides, nothing – EVER!

How do we manage that?

We achieve control of insect pests by continuously scouting for the presence of pests, and when indicated, releasing beneficial insects which prey upon the pests. And problems with fungal diseases are avoided by meticulous sanitation within the greenhouse, timely pruning of spent leaves, and maintaining constant air movement with fans that run 24 hours a day.

Tired of Buying 'Fake' Tomatoes?

If you love tomatoes, you know exactly what we mean by 'fake.'

All grocery stores have tomatoes for sell, and plenty of them. Most of the time they even look pretty good.

But you know the drill.

You buy some tomatoes, take them home, slice them up, and – as usual – you're disappointed. Beauty IS only skin deep for those tomatoes; they're bland and tasteless.

But our tomatoes will turn your disappointment into delight.

Because we take pride in delivering a product that is an unfortunate rarity in today's modern markets: tomatoes that actually taste like TOMATOES!

We're sure you will enjoy them.
